About Headway

Headway is a charity established in 1979 that supports people affected by a brain injury.

We help people understand about brain injury, offer support and run a free information Helpline (0808 800 2244). We also have a number of publications that you can read for advice. In particular, our publication 'Claiming Compensation after Head Injury' provides information about every stage of a compensation claim.

We operate a network of over 120 local Groups and Branches across the UK. They offer a wide range of services including support networks, community-based services, outreach services and respite care. To find a centre near you, ring the Helpline or visit our website at www.headway.org.uk

About this Directory

This list has been prepared by Headway to assist people seeking the services of solicitors experienced in personal injury litigation, in the context of traumatic brain injury and its consequences. The information enclosed will help you to choose the right solicitor for your case by giving advice and guidance on what to ask, who to contact and where you can find a solicitor in your area.

Please note that contacts in this Directory have been assessed regarding their experience in personal injury claims only. This accreditation does not apply to any other solicitors or departments within an office or a firm.

The production and distribution costs of this Directory have been kindly sponsored by Burcher Jennings.

How to use this list

- The Regional Index page is divided into regions, and then, within each region, alphabetically into towns and cities.
- If you already have the name of a legal firm and wish to check if they are included on the Directory, please use the alphabetical Index of Solicitors at the back of the book (page 94).
- As an increasing number of those seeking legal representation do so because of accidents abroad, a listing of firms together with their particular overseas experience appears at the back of this booklet.
- The expertise offered by each firm has been coded for easier understanding. Check with the Coding explanations on page 14 for further information.

Accreditation logo

This logo represents Headway's accreditation for head injury solicitors on the Directory. It is a trusted standard confirming that each of the solicitors featured in this list have agreed to work within the Headway Head Injury Lawyers Code of Conduct.

Without the logo, we cannot guarantee whether a solicitor has the relevant experience in the field of brain injury.

We encourage you to check that your solicitor is Headway accredited by searching this Directory.

Choosing the right solicitor

It is more important to instruct a solicitor with experience than to allow someone who is inexperienced to handle your case purely because he/she has an office close to your home. In seeking expert medical advice you would probably not hesitate to travel some distance to see the right specialist. The same considerations apply to brain injury compensation claims. Choosing the wrong solicitor could result in undervaluation of your claim. It is important that you choose a solicitor specialising in brain injury work.

Brain injuries are complicated and involve different considerations from other forms of injury. It is very important that the solicitor you choose to handle your claim understands the complexities of your injury and how your own injury is likely to affect your life. A specialist solicitor will know the right expert to instruct in your claim which will result in fair and just compensation to you.

The solicitor that you instruct will explain to you how your claim will be conducted. This advice could seem complicated, particularly following a brain injury. You must, therefore, always ensure that you take someone with you who will help you understand the questions and advice given. They may also be able to ask things that may not have otherwise occurred to you. Never hesitate to take notes. The solicitor you instruct should send you a letter setting out the advice that has been given at your initial meeting. If you do not receive such a letter you must not hesitate to ask for the advice in writing.

It is common that claims for compensation for brain injury often take three to five years and in some cases longer. The reason for this is that it is important to ensure how your brain injury is going to affect your future and to assess all your future needs. This will enable your solicitor to value your claim properly. You should not, therefore, expect your case to be settled quickly – indeed, it is unlikely that a swift settlement would be in your best interests. Delaying the settlement of your claim should not prevent your solicitor from obtaining an interim payment for you in most cases.

The solicitor that you instruct will find it helpful if you can keep a record of important events in a diary and also keep a list of expenses that you incur.

It is important that your solicitor explains to you the various options for funding your claim, how costs can be recovered and how your position in relation to legal costs can best be protected.

Meeting your solicitor

Before you meet your solicitor it is a good idea to get together any letters, documents or other paperwork that you think the solicitor might need to see.

Things to take with you:

- if you have been involved in a car accident the police may have given you a card or a letter containing details about the accident.
- relevant information regarding the accident, such as witness details, premises information and photographs, if applicable.
- any insurance policies.

At your first meeting there may be more than one solicitor present. This means that, if your solicitor is not available to speak to you at any time during your case, perhaps because they are at a court hearing, you will still have someone you can speak to who is familiar with your case.

The solicitor will ask you to tell them what, if anything, you can remember about the accident. It may be that because of your injuries you cannot remember anything. If that is the case, do not worry. The solicitor will be used to dealing with this situation. If a friend or family member witnessed your accident, your solicitor will be able to speak to them and they can also obtain information from others, for example the police or the Health and Safety Executive.

Once the solicitor is aware of the facts of your case they will tell you whether they have enough information to be able to properly advise you. If the solicitor feels that you have a reasonable chance of winning your case (i.e. a greater than 50% chance), then they will tell you what investigations they need to do next. They will also discuss with you how to pay for these investigations.

There are a number of different ways to fund your claim such as Legal Aid in clinical negligence cases, legal expenses insurance, After the Event insurance, conditional fee agreements (“no win, no fee”) and in some cases funding from your Trade Union or the Legal Services Commission (formerly the Legal Aid Board). The solicitor will advise as to which option is best for you.

Questions to ask your solicitor

No solicitor who is prepared to act for you or your family should object to answering questions fully and honestly. The following questions are blunt, but you should not be afraid to ask them.

Take a written list of questions when you see a solicitor for an initial interview, and make a note of the answers given. You may want to ask the person accompanying you to ask the questions. If a solicitor objects to the questions or to your note-making, you should ask yourself why.

Suggested questions

Q How long have you undertaken brain injury work and how many cases are you handling at the moment?

A The answer will give you a good idea of the individual's experience, and their familiarity with brain injury work, i.e. whether or not they deal with such cases on a regular basis.

Q What proportion of your present workload is brain injury? What does the balance of your workload comprise of?

A The answer to this question will tell you whether or not the solicitor you are instructing is a specialist in brain injury and is capable of handling a serious injury claim.

Q Will you be dealing with my case personally?

A You may choose a specialist solicitor who is experienced in dealing with brain injury work. However if that solicitor is not going to handle your case personally, it is possible that your case will be passed on to a more junior solicitor who may not necessarily be a specialist. You must, therefore, establish from the outset that the solicitor you are instructing will deal with your case personally and will be available for you when needed. It is not unusual for solicitors to delegate or to work as part of a team but the solicitor instructed by you must have the time to properly assess your case and be involved in all the important steps.

Q Do you belong to the Association of Personal Injury Lawyers (APIL)? Do you belong to the Law Society's Personal Injury Panel?

A Membership of Professional Bodies is an indication of special interest, and also that there are reputable organisations to contact in the rare case of a complaint being necessary.

Q When will you be able to apply for an interim payment?

A Compensation claims, especially potentially large or complex claims, may take some time to conclude. In the meantime you will need to pay for rehabilitation, aids or adaptations or additional family expenses. Your solicitor should be aware of these likely needs and know the system for getting a result. Your solicitor should be able to advise you whether yours is a case in which an early interim payment was likely and if not why not.

Q What are the options for funding the case? (e.g. "no win, no fee"; legal expenses insurance; Legal Aid)

A You must feel confident you understand the fee structures and the potential risks involved. This will help you make a decision on the right choice of legal representative for you.

Q Are you prepared to visit us at home if necessary?

A There may be difficulties travelling to the solicitor's office. Also, visiting a solicitor can be an intimidating experience at the best of times. The individual with a brain injury may feel more at ease in their own surroundings.

Q Can we phone you if we have any problems?

A Yes! You should also have a contact to whom you can speak in your solicitor's absence – even solicitors fall ill and have holidays but you should feel confident that in these circumstances, there is someone in the legal team who can take on your enquiries and address your concerns.

Q Will you keep in regular contact with us, and how will this be done?

A Your solicitor should be prepared to keep in contact on a regular basis. Most of the misunderstandings between clients and their solicitors arise from poor communication.

Q Do you have links with your local Headway groups?

A A solicitor with links to Headway will not only be an ideal source of information about local support, but will also have opportunities to hear news from the wider world of brain injury research, support and development.

Q Do you have experience working with brain injury professionals?

A The term “brain injury professionals” covers a wide range of different expertise from experience of claiming benefits to neuro-psychology. You should be able to have confidence in your solicitor’s knowledge of the kinds of professionals who might be consulted about the support necessary for you or your family members.

Q On average, what settlements do you achieve for your clients and what investment advice do you give?

A Once your compensation award has been finalised you may need advice on how to financially manage large sums of money. If your solicitor regularly deals with large claims, then the better knowledge and access to appropriate financial advice he or she will have.

Q Would you be happy for us to take up a reference in relation to your ability to handle my claim?

A A specialist solicitor will have satisfied clients and will be known to professionals specialising in brain injury work.

If you would feel more comfortable speaking to someone about the solicitor you have instructed you must not hesitate to ask this question.

Q If my case is funded by way of a “no win no fee” agreement, will you charge a success fee? If so, how much will the success fee be and how is it calculated?

A A solicitor can charge a success fee to reflect the financial risk in taking your case on a “no win no fee” basis. The success fee only arises if your case is successful however it will be deducted from your compensation. It is important that you ask the solicitor whether a success fee will be charged, and if so, the amount. The success fee will be a percentage of your compensation (capped at 25% of compensation for your injuries and past losses).

Q Will there be any other cost deductions from my compensation?

A You should ask your solicitor to clarify whether there might be additional deductions, such as for any shortfall in the recovery of their basic charges or for After The Event insurance.

Remember!

You are free to seek an initial interview with more than one firm. Visit two at least. Gaining some knowledge about the solicitors and their different ways of working is an important step to making a choice of legal representative who suits you.

If, during the course of your claim, you realise you are unhappy with the choice you have made, you have the right to change your solicitor. However, before doing so you may like to discuss this with someone else, for example Headway, your case manager, or some other independent person.

The claim process

There are three main elements to making a claim:

1. Proving that another person was at least partly to blame for your injuries.
2. Finding out what rehabilitation you require and are entitled to.
3. Request that any expenses you may have incurred be reimbursed.

1 Responsibility/Blame

It is necessary to prove that you (The Claimant) suffered an injury and that another person's (The Defendant's) actions caused your injury – this must be decided at the earliest possible stage.

2 Rehabilitation

Whilst the main purpose of pursuing a claim is to receive financial compensation for your losses, it can also provide other positive benefits. For example, the Rehabilitation Code says that support should be provided to you and your family. This will usually be in the form of rehabilitation and treatment but can also include counselling or Cognitive Behavioural Therapy or the appointment of a Case Manager, who can assess what support you need. In some circumstances, third party insurance companies will provide support and rehabilitation even when liability is in dispute.

The Solicitor will arrange for you to undergo medical examinations to determine the prognosis for your injuries. Any treatment needs and care requirements will also be identified during the examination. It will help your recovery if you are able to gain access to the recommended treatment as soon as possible.

3 Claiming Expenses

In addition to the compensation for the injury itself, you are entitled to claim expenses. These may include:

- loss of earnings
- care expenses
- medical expenses
- equipment costs

The solicitor should therefore investigate all potential expense claims, including not only past, but also future costs you will incur once the claim is settled.

Headway Head Injury Lawyers Code of Conduct

Each of the solicitors featured in this list has agreed to work within the Headway Head Injury Lawyers Code of Conduct. This is to ensure that all legal firms included have the relevant experience in the field of brain injury and that anyone using the Headway Head Injury Solicitors Directory to choose a solicitor can have confidence in the quality and expertise of their chosen firm and its commitment to addressing their particular needs and circumstances.

By signing the Code of Conduct the head injury lawyers (and their employees) included in the Headway Solicitors Directory:

- i. Should, when dealing with service users/carers, conduct themselves in a manner that upholds and enhances the reputation of Headway and the other firms of solicitors featured in the list.

- ii. Should not claim to have specialist skills or experience that they do not possess.
- iii. Should not pressurise Headway Groups and Branches to endorse or recommend the services offered by the firm.
- iv. Should provide Headway service users/carers with a free initial consultation to answer any questions they may have and provide them with appropriate information about the firm to allow them to make an informed choice.
- v. Should not put undue pressure on Headway service users/carers to appoint the firm to act on their behalf and should recognise their right to consider other solicitors prior to making a decision about who should represent them.
- vi. Should act in the best interests of the service users/carers and not make excessive or unnecessary charges.
- vii. Should keep themselves up-to-date with current law and undertake regular Headway training to help them fully understand the needs, issues and aspirations of service users/carers.
- viii. Should recognise that service users/carers are often coping with extremely distressing circumstances and provide them with the respect and sensitivity required at such times.
- ix. Should recognise their duty to avoid sexual, financial, emotional or any other form of client exploitation. In particular, they must not use their professional relationship to establish or pursue a sexual or improper emotional relationship with a service user.
- x. Should respect the privacy and dignity of the service users/carers and not make approaches within the hospital setting, which might be interpreted as applying undue pressure on Headway service users/carers.

Complaints Process

If you are dissatisfied with the service being provided by your solicitor, you should initially complain to the firm via its complaints procedure, which should be clearly accessible on the firm's website.

Following this, if you believe that a firm included in this directory has not complied with the Headway Lawyers Code of Conduct please inform Headway in writing, setting out the specific part of the code you believe has been breached. You can view the Headway Lawyers Code of Conduct on page 11 of this publication.

Letters of complaint should be sent or emailed to:

Melanie Dickens, Headway – the brain injury association,
Bradbury House, 190 Bagnall Road, Nottingham, NG6 8SF.
Email: fundraising@headway.org.uk

If you are unhappy with the general quality of the service offered by a law firm, please contact the Legal Services Ombudsman. Headway can only investigate complaints that are in breach of the Headway Lawyers Code of Conduct.

Further information on the Legal Services Ombudsman is available from www.legalombudsman.org.uk or by calling 0300 555 0333.

Mind your head

When the world as you know it changes in an instant, you need the best possible team on your side. Malcolm Underhill is an authority on helping people achieve the best possible outcomes following serious brain injury: he is independently ranked top in the Thames Valley region, is a Fellow of APIL, and trains other lawyers. He and his team can visit you at home or hospital to explain how we can help. Your own dedicated case manager will be with you every step of the way during your case, helping you towards a brighter future.

A photograph of a woman and two children on bicycles on a grassy hill. The woman, wearing a white t-shirt, blue jeans, and a green helmet, stands with her back to the camera, holding the handlebars of a silver bicycle. Two children, both wearing helmets, are on bicycles in the foreground. The child on the left is wearing a brown t-shirt and khaki shorts, and the child in the middle is wearing a blue and white striped shirt and dark shorts. They are all looking out over a valley with green hills and a small town in the distance under a blue sky with white clouds.

For a life beyond brain injury

Brain injury can be devastating or subtle and may only become apparent once the more physical injuries have started to recover.

Our Serious Injury team specialises in understanding the complexity of brain or head injury, whether severe, moderate or mild and can help provide you with the financial security to build a life beyond the injury.

Why choose us?

- Blaser Mills is a leading law firm
- Our lawyers are Brain Injury specialists and are highly experienced
- FREE initial consultation
- No win, no fee
- We are members of nationally recognised panels and accreditation schemes
- We care about what we do
- We will come and visit you at your home or hospital

For your initial free consultation to discuss life beyond brain injury, please contact specialist lawyers Nicola or Julian;

Nicola Heales: 01784 273 916 njh@blasermills.co.uk

WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

To be allowed into a person's life and to help them and their family rebuild after a head injury is a tremendous responsibility and one which we don't take lightly. To give them time and understanding, as well as encouragement and support, is every bit as important as negotiating one's way through the legal procedures.

We aim to make the process of claiming compensation as stress free as possible, whilst enabling the most appropriate medical and rehabilitation experts to help you to reach a position where you can make the most of your future.

Our lawyers are highly accredited head injury specialists and have an outstanding track record of success.

"We were provided with a highly professional service at all times, with an outcome that exceeded our expectations . . . thank you!"

stewartslaw

A leading brain injury law firm

Suffering a serious injury is devastating. It can be a traumatic time as you come to terms with the impact of your accident. Our role is to secure the best possible future for you and your family.

Unlike other law firms, we only act for clients who have sustained serious life-changing injuries. Our lawyers handle a small number of cases, allowing them to give your claim the attention it deserves. Our goal is to help our clients lead full and active lives.

We have been ranked No. 1 in The Legal 500 and Chambers for the past 15 years. Our legal expertise and determination to push boundaries has enabled our clients to win record-breaking compensation awards.

STANDING UP FOR YOU

The effects of a brain injury can be life changing.

Our specialist serious injury solicitors work closely with support groups, charities and medical professionals to secure expert care for individuals and the families of those affected by brain injuries.

We strive to ensure both immediate and long-term needs are met by supporting clients throughout rehabilitation, while obtaining the maximum amount of compensation to secure financial needs post-injury.

It only really matters...

when it happens to you or your family

Digby Brown Solicitors help clients and families in Scotland after a serious accident has caused a brain injury.

For over 40 years, the firm has been actively involved in the brain injury community, the experience built up over this time truly allows us to call ourselves experts in our field.

Until it happens to you or your family, none of us will ever really understand what it feels like to have a loved one seriously injured as a result of an accident. We understand this. Our job is to understand the law and bring our many years of experience, knowledge and expertise to bear, making it our mission to help where we can.

We have been involved with Headway, both locally and nationally for many years. If you have questions about your circumstances, please call us, we are here to help.

Disclaimer

We have been careful to only include firms that have agreed to work within the Headway Head Injury Lawyers Code of Conduct (outlined on page 11) and who have declared that the criteria set down by the Headway Board of Trustees have been met. You can therefore be confident that all the legal firms included have the relevant experience in the field of brain injury. However, this does not imply that Headway can offer guarantees in respect of the information, and/or services, that each firm may offer or provide. We must also emphasise that no liability will attach to Headway or any of its servants or agents as a result of any person relying upon this Directory.
